"Don't treat animals as animals.

Treat them as living beings.
That's what they are."

Why are these animals endangered?

- - People have hunted and killed many animals.
- -People have cut down many trees.
- -There are no many forests for animals nowadays.
- -Modern life is bad for animals.
- -The air is not fresh, the water is not clean.
- -They don't have good things to eat and space to live.

- It is wrong to cut down trees in the forest;
- It's right to make Safari parks or natural reserves where animals can live safe
- It's a good idea to make recovery centers and to help sick animals and animal cubs to survive
- It is wrong to buy things made of endangered animals.

I AM NOT MEDICINE

At least one rhino is killed every day due to the mistaken belief that rhino horn can cure cancer and dengue.

I AM NOT A TRINKET

Tens of thousands of elephants are killed every year for their ivory tusks, which are made into everything from knickknacks to souvenirs.

I AM NOT A RUG

As few as 1,200 wild tigers remain. Poaching for their skins, bones and other parts is the greatest immediate threat to their survival.

A small, wet, brown and white puppy is sitting on a concrete ledge, looking down. The puppy's fur is matted and appears to be dripping with water. The background is a blurred outdoor setting with a concrete surface.
